What is a capital expenditure request form. What are examples of capital expenditure. Capital budget approval process.

information that will help to determine the costs and relative benefits of the expense. The 'Request processing is the communication of the relative benefits of the expenditure. This step documents its cost and ongoing value. Costs are itemized and the residual value is recorded. It also provides an opportunity for the Finance team to comment on the request. Once the official costing of the project is complete, the Management team or CAPEX committee can meet to discuss, review, and make recommendations based on the information. Once the expense is approved by the group, it can move to the final signoff from the CFO or CEO. CAPEX requests then flow through the office of the expense in financial documentation. For unbudgeted or high-cost expenditure, it is common to route the request to the CEO informed of capital expenditure as it is about receiving approval. Finally, the Finance team can begin their own internal process to raise a purchase order for the asset. Once this is completed, the expenditure can be made. This is an excerpt from Flowingly's latest processes for Finance processes for Finance processes that can help companies immediately. This book covers the small and frequent processes as well as processes you might struggle to find documented anywhere else. Capital Project Approval Forms Page last updated 11/18/2002 The Capital Project Approval Form (CPAF) is to be prepared for all capital expenditures requests of $300,000 or more. A copy of the CPAF template is available below as a 'Read only' document which can be downloaded for actual input and preparation. The completed CPAF is to be submitted electronically to David Rose. If your request is less than $300,000 you can use the Capital Request Form. Right click the hyperlink and save it (file name is crf.doc) to either your local drive or a network drive. It is a Word for Windows v6.0 template which you can download and complete. Instructions are part of the template. To assist with the preparation of the CPAF, an example of three capital expenditures requests on the CPAF are also available. To select a template, click on a link below. These forms are currenty being updated. If you have any questions please contact Art Cristensen Known Problems You must have the Report Manager add-in for Excel to use Macro Printing. To verify that you have this add-in, start Excel. Go to 'Tools' on the menu bar, then select 'Add-ins'. Scroll down and look for 'Report Manager'. If it is not present, you may download it by right clicking and 'Saving link as' here. Save it to the the path: C:\Program Files\Microsoft Office\Library. Then, from Excel to to 'Tools', 'Add-ins', and browse to the above path. Click on 'Reports.xla', then click 'OK' in the window titled 'Add-ins'. The module is now installed. If you have problems performing this install, or have problems with Excel after the install, contact your MCIT support staff. The HELP Desk number is 6-8000. Printing from the 'File' menu in Excel will work without this add-in, but you will not be able to print using the macros on the 'Form' button without the Report Manager add-in.
